

Walking towards home, Tom discovers that at his favourite comic book store, they introduced a new way of discovering the Marvel heroes.

Stuart tells Tom about "Marvelous 1.0", the latest coolest VR application. Tom can explore now the Marvel Universe as if he were actually there.

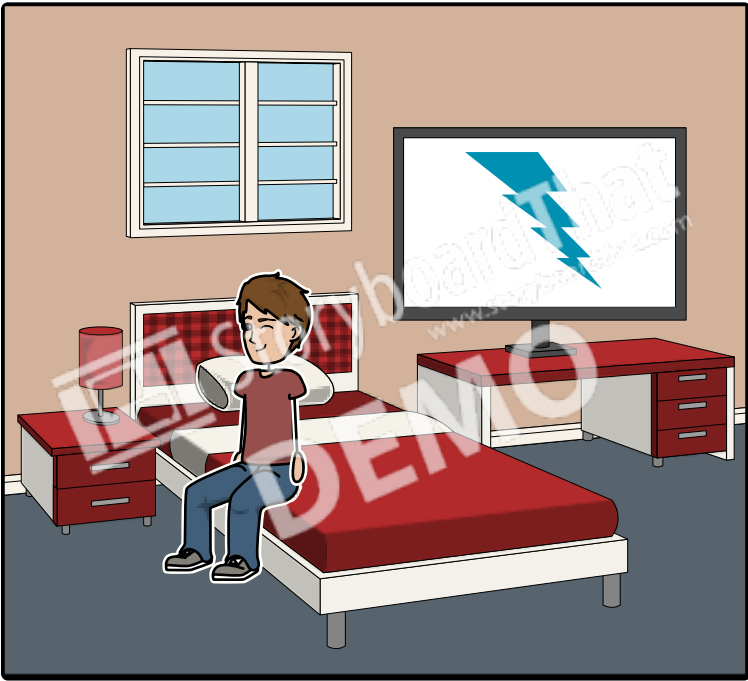

Tom puts on the VR goggles, enters the Marvelous Booth and is immediately transported in a fantasy world. He can't believe his eyes.

All of his favourite characters were there: Captain America, Thor, Jean Grey. But his eyes were drawn to someone sitting in a corner: none other than Black Panther.

Tom discovered that he could interact as in real life with Black Panther, ask him questions and even drive his car. Moreover, with the help of a menu he could jump to any other character and time in the Marvel Universe.

Back home to his room, Tom thought to himself: "I need to have this new game!" He fell asleep dreaming he was fighting in a battle next to the Avengers.